Steve Kammerer Joins USGA Green Section Staff

Steve Kammerer has joined the USGA Green Section staff to coordinate efforts for the Program for Environmental Best Management Practices (PE BMP). Steve’s experience includes more than 25 years in agronomy, research and technical management in the turfgrass industry.

Steve began his career with ISK Biosciences in the early 1990s and, through a series of mergers and acquisitions, ended a 25-year career with Syngenta in 2015. His experience as a technical specialist and, most recently, as Syngenta’s global technical manager for abiotic stress mitigation provided years of experience problem solving on golf courses and gaining a deep understanding of turf care products.

USGA agronomists provide regular regional updates outlining current issues and observations from the field. Be sure to view updates from multiple regions as featured ideas, techniques and solutions to problems often apply to other parts of the country.
