along lines allied with the problems the greenkeeper must meet and solve to the satisfaction of the multitude of golf players.

The officers for 1931 are the same as for 1930, except that Peter Sieber, Winneshick Golf Club, has been elected as a director to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Michaels' moving out of Wisconsin.

Atlanta Green Section
By Thomas P. Hinman

Our organization has held its regular monthly meetings until May, 1930, but for the remainder of that year, due to illness of its president and preoccupation of its other officers, has been unable to get together for the other meetings that had been anticipated. It was founded for the purpose, broadly speaking, of distributing to its members information bearing directly upon the problems of greenkeeping in the southeastern states. Its membership consists of greenkeepers, green committees, professionals, and presidents of golf clubs. Its officers for 1930 were the following: President, Thomas P. Hinman, Druid Hills Club; vice-president, Howard H. Beckett, Capital City Club; secretary and treasurer, Warren Granade, Ansley Park Club, Atlanta, Ga.

National Association of Greenkeepers of America
By John Quaill

Our association was organized on September 13, 1926, at a meeting of 31 greenkeepers who had been called together for the purpose, held at the Sylvania Golf Club, Toledo, Ohio. John Morley was the originator of the idea which resulted in the formation of the association. The officers elected at that meeting were as follows: President, John Morley; vice-president, John McNamara; secretary, William J. Rockefeller; treasurer, Alexander McPherson.

The following month a meeting was held in Chicago, where 15 more members were enrolled. Meetings were also held in Cleveland, Detroit, and Pittsburgh, where the membership was put over the 100 mark. Other meetings were held in various sections of the United States and Canada, until the membership was boosted to the 500 mark. The members were picked for quality and not for quantity, as the association wanted to boast of having the cream of the country on its roster. The membership requirements were made rigid enough to exclude the novice but broad enough to include the man who had the interests of greenkeeping at heart.

The association holds its annual meeting about the 1st of February, at which officers are elected and pertinent business attended to. A golf show is also held, which has become the largest show of its kind in the world. The educational conference is also the best that can be planned, with experts and scientists on the program to tell the delegates how they can better run their courses and to offer suggestions for the advancement of greenkeeping.

The association publishes its notices and articles through the National Greenkeeper. This paper is its official organ.

The main activities of the association are the golf show, educational conference, and district meetings.

The officers for 1930 were as follows: President, John Morley, Youngstown Country Club; first vice-president, John MacGregor, Chi-
