Profiles of Professional Golf Course Superintendents
There's more than one way to build a successful career!
By Patrick M. O'Brien

An Innovative Approach to Black Cutworm Management
Black cutworms can be controlled by a few changes in your turf management program.
By R. Chris Williamson, Ph.D., and Daniel A. Potter, Ph.D.

How to Select the Best Sand for Your Bunkers
There's a lot to learn about the sand you select for your course.
By James Francis Moore

The Flood of 1997
Spring flooding is a common occurrence at Fargo Country Club, but record winter snows melted into a spring that won't soon be forgotten.
By Craig J. Vigen, CGCS

From Doubt to Certification
One superintendent's story on Audubon certification.
By Steve Ehrbar, CGCS

How Low Can You Go?
First greens and now fairways. It's time for a call to reason.
By Robert Vavrek, Jr.

News Notes

USGA Green Section Education Conference

USGA National & Regional Conferences

Turf Twisters